

GERMAN NOTE DEFERS DIRECT ANSWER TO WILSON'S QUESTIONS

REPLY IS DELIVERED TO AMBASSADOR GERARD FOR TRANSMISSION TO WASHINGTON

Germany Desires to Establish Whether the Lusitania Was A Defenseless Merchant Ship or Was Being Used to Transport War Munitions and Soldiers—Expresses Regret for Injuries Sustained By Americans.

BERLIN, May 29, via London. President Wilson will reserve comment.

This word came from the white house tonight after press dispatches outlining the German note were received. It is known however, that the United States government is prepared to controvert everyone of the points mentioned in the summary of the German position as published here. The press outline conforms with Ambassador Gerard's dispatches of the last few days forecasting the nature of the German reply.

Has Indisputable Evidence.

Evidence of an indisputable character was gathered by the Washington government prior to the sending of the note of May 13th, to prove that the Lusitania carried no guns, either mounted or unmounted and that she carried no explosives within the meaning of American statutes and that no British vessels have cleared from American ports for several months carrying guns of any character.

British ambassador here is preparing to transmit assurances from the British government that the Lusitania was not armed and that she could not be carried on the naval lists as an auxiliary cruiser unless she was armed and commissioned, the latter change from a peaceful merchantman to an auxiliary cruiser being possible, according to British practice, only in home ports.

Does Not Destroy Right.

The United States moreover holds that the carrying of arms or ammunitions or of other contraband, or individuals, who might be prospective soldiers, does not destroy the right under international law and humanity of the belligerent merchantman to be visited and searched before being destroyed and the neutral or non-combatant passengers transferred to a place of safety.

While the exact phrasology of the German reply is awaited with much interest there was a feeling of pessimism in many quarters over the reported evasion of President Wilson's demands.

The action of the captain in attempting to escape however, necessitated more summary action. Even then the commander of the submarine granted ten minutes for those on board to leave the vessel and subsequently extended the time to 23 minutes before sinking the ship.

Regrets "Unintentional Attacks." Germany expresses regret for the "unintentional attacks" on the American Steamer Cushing and the Gulflight. The Cushing was attacked by German airmen in the North Sea and the Gulflight was torpedoed off Scilly Islands. Germany disavows any intention to attack harmless neutral craft. She offers to pay compensation wherever she is found to be in the wrong and to refer doubtful cases to The Hague for a decision.

The passage in the American note concerning a possible disavowal by Germany of intent to sink the Lusitania and the discontinuance of her present practices of submarine warfare are not mentioned specifically in the reply. The note states that, pending the reply of the American government to the German assumptions of fact regarding the real character of the Lusitania and her cargo, no attempt will be made to answer the demands contained in the American communication. These assumptions of fact are as follows:

Was Built as an Auxiliary.

The Lusitania was built as an auxiliary cruiser, subsidized and carried on the navy lists as such. She carried, according to German information, two guns, mounted and concealed below decks. British steamers sailing from New York according to information received from passengers and other sources, repeatedly carried soldiers, artillery, war supplies, and contraband to England, the Lusitania on this trip carrying specifically 5,400 cases of ammunition in addition to other war supplies and Canadian troops enroute to the front.

Reference is here made to the fact that the carrying of explosives on passenger steamers is contrary to American law. It is intimated that the German government would be glad to receive information as to how it happened that ammunition was permitted to be shipped on the Lusitania, a vessel crowded with passengers. Strong phrases are used regarding what is considered as apparently the deliberate policy of British shipping companies to protect war shipments by embarking American passengers on the same ships.

Germany contends it is impossible to settle the question whether proper opportunity was given to place the passengers and crew in safety until it is determined whether the regulations adopted after the sinking of the Titanic, regarding a proper supply of boats and watertight bulkheads, which are now a part of the American law, were observed in the case of the Lusitania.

Finally the American mediatory proposals designed to end submarine warfare and the throttling of food supplies and other conditional contraband for Germany are recalled. The government expressed the desire to know what steps if any, have been taken to induce Great Britain to embark on negotiations to this end, after Germany indicated her willingness to discuss a settlement of this question.

President Reserves Comment.

Washington, May 29.—Until the official text of the German reply to the American note concerning violations of neutral rights in the war zone is received, probably tomorrow,

FINANCIAL CONFERENCE COMES TO A CLOSE

END SIX DAY DISCUSSION OF PROBLEMS RESULTING FROM WAR

Concrete Results May Not be Apparent for Months to Come—McAdoo to Make Proposal to Congress Regarding Improved Transportation.

Washington, May 29.—The Pan-American financial conference came to an end here tonight after six days' discussion of problems which have confronted the two Americas as a consequence of the European war. The concrete results of the conference may not be apparent for months to come but none of the representatives of the United States or the eighteen republics which sent delegates were inclined to overlook its sentimental value and the apparent fact that through this agency business men of the United States and its sister republics have come to a better understanding of each other's views.

To Report to Congress.

What the results of the conference may be so far as the United States is concerned probably will not be apparent until congress meets next fall and receives the report of Secretary McAdoo, presiding officer of the conference, and suggestions he may make.

Of first importance, politically and commercially, is the question of improved transportation facilities between North and South America. The conference took no definite stand today on how transportation could be best developed and let the question of ship subsidy or government ownership exactly where it was when the deliberations began.

Mr. McAdoo indicated, however, his purpose to make some concrete proposal to congress saying he expected to urge the president to press for adequate legislation.

To Urge Need of Continuing.

Secretary McAdoo said he would urge upon the president the need of continuing the work of the conference. He pointed out that the delegates had no power to take affirmative action on the question of transportation but that each country must be left to deal with the matter in its own way.

The group committees of the conference, which have done the real work would be replaced, he added, with permanent committees in the United States to continue the work.

OFFICIALS TO WELCOME NATIONALIZED CITIZENS

Chicago, May 29.—Federal, state, county and city officials will welcome into citizenship tomorrow the 8,560 men who took the oath of allegiance to the United States and became citizens here during the last year.

Patriotic addresses will be made by United States Senators Sherman and Lewis for the United States and Governor Dunne for the state.

SINGING WAS ARTISTIC.

A grave factor has been added to the situation by the finding of the American commission appointed by Ambassador Page that the American steamer Nebraskan was torpedoed without warning by a submarine. In German quarters the claim was persistent that the vessel must have struck a mine.

Lieut. John H. Towers, naval attaché, and Naval Constructor Lewis B. McBride of the American embassy and Consul Washington at Liverpool have reported through Ambassador Page that after a technical examination of the vessel and on the testimony of the chief engineer of the Nebraskan that he saw the wake of a torpedo, they had no doubt that the ship was attacked by a submarine.

Inasmuch as submarines of the allied powers have not attacked merchantmen, the presumption of officials is similar to that reached after an investigation of the attack on the Gulflight—that a German submarine was responsible, and an inquiry to the German foreign office for its report on the case is expected to go forward within a day or two.

Attack Increases Tension.

The preponderance of evidence showing an attack on the Nebraskan after it was believed that the submarine attacks on vessels would cease, at least while the negotiations were in progress, admittedly increased the tension in relations with Germany. In German quarters it was suggested that if the ship was attacked by a German submarine the commander may have been away from his base too long to learn of the new developments and the precautions to be taken with respect to neutral ships. The fact that the Nebraskan had hauled down her flag at dark was also mentioned as a possible reason for suspecting that she was an enemy vessel. Incidentally the state department received from Ambassador Gerard today a circular issued by the German government warning neutral vessels to keep their names illuminated at night and to bear as many distinguishing marks as possible because of possibility of mistaken attacks.

BAND CONCERT.

Announcement has been made that Jeffries Concert band will give an open air program in Central park Monday evening. The band is to give this program on account of Decoration day and in honor of the merchants and residents of Jacksonville in general.

REICHSTAG ADJOURNS.

War News Summarized

BULK OF VANDERBILT'S ESTATE GOES TO SONS

Germany's reply to the American note sent after the sinking of the Lusitania was delivered yesterday to Ambassador Gerard at Berlin. It does not specifically answer the American representations concerning the sinking of the Lusitania and discontinuance of present methods of submarine warfare. These points are left for settlement in further negotiations.

Germany expresses regret for attacks on American vessels which are said to have been unintentional. Compensation is offered in cases in which Germany is shown to have been at fault and reference to The Hague of disputed cases is suggested.

Germany sets up the assumptions as a basis for negotiations that the Lusitania was a British naval auxiliary, carrying mounted guns as well as troops and war munitions and that it was a violation of American law to carry passengers on her. The United States is asked what steps, if any, it has taken to induce Great Britain to depart from its policy of cutting off Germany's imports of food supplies, provided Germany abandons her submarine attacks on merchantmen; a settlement Germany has asserted her willingness to discuss.

It was pointed out that a considerable sum would have to be subtracted from the amount of the original estate because of the settlement believed to have been made upon Mrs. Elsie French Vanderbilt at the time of their divorce. Besides there was a $6,000,000 payment made out of Alfred Vanderbilt's estate to his brother, Cornelius. This left the estimated amount of the estate at between thirty and forty millions of dollars.

Infant Sons Get Bulk.

By the terms of the will the bulk of the estate is left in trust to Vanderbilt's infant sons by his second wife, Margaret Emerson Vanderbilt. They are Alfred G. Jr. and George.

William H. Vanderbilt, his son by his first wife, Elsie French Vanderbilt, who was divorced from him, receives a trust fund of $5,000,000; the Vanderbilt properties, known as Oakland Farm, near Newport, R. I., the portraits and bust of Cornelius Vanderbilt, his grandfather, and gold medal voted by congress to Cornelius Vanderbilt, his great-grandfather, founder of the Vanderbilt fortune at the close of the Civil War. This legacy is in addition to a liberal settlement which he received from his father during his life.

Provides for Widow.

Mr. Vanderbilt made provision for his widow by leaving her $3,000,000 and the income of $5,000,000 in trust, together with the Vanderbilt estates in the Adirondacks and Gloucester house in London, England.

Relatives and friends receive bequests ranging from $1,000 to $500,000.

STATES PURPOSE MAKES WAR BASE OR NOBLE.

Springfield, Ill., May 29.—"War is base or noble, according to the purpose which prompts it," declared United States Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman this afternoon in addressing a Memorial day celebration given by the local post of the G. A. R.

"New instruments of warfare have repealed the code of civilized warfare," Senator Sherman added, "and the way the European war is being carried on is a reversal to primeval savagery, but when the cataclysm shall have passed will not Europe join with our republic in an international union to preserve lasting peace?"

The recent action of the Boston Y. W. C. A. in fixing thirty years as the time when a woman ceases to be young, has aroused a large amount of agitation among women the country over as to the age of a "young" woman over thirty years, while in New York and Philadelphia the age limit still remains at thirty-five. Of course, it is a fact that the real purpose of the change in Boston is so that the organization can give its protection rather to young girls who are earning small salaries, rather than to those of more mature years who are presumed to be wiser in the ways of the world and also to be making larger salaries.

That people almost without exception are charitable and yet have widely differing interests from a humanitarian standpoint was evidenced by the will of a St. Louis woman who died recently. She left an estate of $30,000, the major portion of which is to be devoted to the erection of watering places throughout the city, especially for animals. She showed her special friendship for cats and dogs by providing that no drinking fountain should be erected without some facilities for shaking the thirst of the smaller animals.

And speaking of the spirit of broad humanity which so frequently evidences itself, newsboys in an eastern city have just completed elaborate plans for entertaining the crippled children of that city at a big outing. The newsies have for years enjoyed an annual banquet but this year they, by unanimous vote, determined to spend the banquet money for a seashore outing for the crippled children.

The statistician who has recently presented an array of figures to show that the amount of ammunition shipped by the United States to the allies is only a very small fraction of the amount being used has put to naught the argument that the United States by permitting the shipment of arms and ammunition is indirectly responsible for the continuance of the war. The figures are interesting of themselves, but the more interesting because furnishing unanswerable argument to a somewhat specious line of reasoning from German sympathizers.

A Chicago alderman who does not believe that the time has arrived when it is possible to make that city dry but who does believe that a great step toward blotting out of the evils of the liquor traffic would come if whiskey and drinks of that class were banished, recently introduced an ordinance prohibiting their sale. The ordinance was referred to a committee and will probably not pass, but is nevertheless indicative of the growing feeling against whisky and gin. Still another evidence of that feeling has been given by the Poster Advertising Association of the United States and Canada which has decreed that its members will not accept any contracts for advertising brands of whisky or other hard liquors. This means that in at least 4,000 cities where the billboards are controlled by this association that no longer will the poster advertisement of "red eye" be on display.

The Y. M. C. A. Campaign. The Y. M. C. A. campaign for funds brought to a successful conclusion Saturday evening is a credit to the generosity of the people of this community. The appeal for funds was made in accordance with well established plans and the personnel of the committees and teams had much to do with the speedy success of the campaign for the public had confidence that the plan proposed for the future management of the association would bring good results.

Becker's One Chance. The only chance that Lieut. Chas. Becker of New York who has been condemned to die in the electric chair, has for escape is executive clemency. In Chicago recently Governor Whitman of New York, who stopped off on his way to California, in reply to interviewers declined to make any special statement about Becker but did give the suggestion that there was a possibility of a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment if Becker would make a clean breast of all he knows. Whitman conducted the prosecution in Becker's two trials and so is familiar with all the facts surrounding the case and he feels very certain that the condemned man can make important revelations if he has a mind to. Now the announcement comes from New York that Becker has determined upon this course and that he is preparing his statement which, while it will not clear him from guilt, will show that he is innocent of the murder of Rosenthal and will involve a number of men higher up in graft scandal. The danger is that some influence will be brought to bear upon Becker to make him determine to sacrifice himself rather than to turn state's evidence on men who have been termed his friends.

The Silver Lining. While there has undoubtedly been too much rain for personal comfort and convenience, it is doubtful if the complaints now being made by farmers are justified by the facts. For several days past the farmers have taken a gloomy view, indeed, and one of them said Saturday when he was reminded that the heavy rain was killing the chinch bugs, that there were no chinch bugs in his neighborhood and that the wet weather was a great deal worse than all the dry weather of the past year.

While the weather forecast indicates a continuance of cloudy weather with showers, there is no reason to believe that the silver lining has been permanently torn away, and with the return of sunshine and some drying winds the farmers are sure to find that there is no excess of water and that the rain was really needed for the earth which has been subjected to such a long and continued period of drought. True, there will be some losses on alfalfa fields and some replanting of corn will be necessary, but looking at conditions from a broad standpoint there is no reason at all for discouragement and farmers will no doubt very soon be again of the opinion that crop prospects as a whole are better than has been true for a period of years.

With One Purpose. While it is not yet certain that the bill introduced in the Illinois general assembly to abolish the Jacksonville school charter will pass there is every reason to believe that this action will be taken. The recent amendment to the bill seems to have removed practically all opposition. Based on this assumption, the present board of education will go out of existence automatically next spring when the new law becomes effective and nine members and a president are chosen to manage the school affairs of the city under the general law.

In that event the present board has only about nine or ten months more of life and let us hope that they will be months of peace rather than of strife. Regardless of the merits of any mooted questions which have disturbed the board during recent months, for the best interests of the schools as a whole, it behoves members of the board of education to get together and to bury differences and to work for the common good of the schools. The very knowledge of continued strife and dissension amongst school board members has a bad effect upon the schools themselves, and for this reason if for no other members of the board should seek a common ground of accord, rather than continue in discord. It will pay in the long run in school management just as in the other affairs of life to manifest a spirit of give and take, to forget petty differences, or those which for that matter really seem important, and to all work together for the common end.

It seems that a lack of funds is a common complaint with boards of education. In St. Louis it has just been announced that because of necessary retrenchment plans, the custom of having summer terms in a number of schools will be abolished this year. An expenditure of $65,000 made in previous years for this particular line of education work will thus be saved. It is very probable, however, that if one were to figure through the years that this saving may in the end result in a considerable loss.

Keeping Accounts Straight. Commissioner Widmayer, who has recently published notices and made a definite announcement of the fact that persons doing business with the city are requested to file their bills monthly, has met with a surprising amount of neglect. Quite a number of persons who have accounts against the city contracted during the month of May have thus far failed to file them. Certainly the effort on the part of the commission of accounts and finances to have bills filed monthly is in the line of good business and should result beneficially for both the city and those who file the bills.

Mr. Widmayer feels that only in this way can he know from month to month just what is the city's financial condition. The hope is, too, that the council may be able to effect some arrangements whereby bills can be met monthly. No doubt this plan will save money for the city and certainly it will be a great inducement for the average business man to seek the city's business and to be willing to make a good figure on what he has to sell if he knows that the bill is to be paid promptly. The very knowledge that a bill against the city is apt to hang fire for a long time and possibly may not be paid for more than a year has a tendency to make the average business man care little whether or not the city is among his customers, and makes it almost necessary also to charge higher for goods sold if a long time credit must be extended.

SAFETY FIRST. Some years ago the railroads coined the "Safety First" phrase and since that time have used it as a slogan for their employees, pointing out that speed and service were nothing if the safety of the public as individuals and as a whole be sacrificed.

In the public schools some years ago the courses of study were so shaped that girls and especially boys were cited to the great danger that the use of alcohol is to the human brain and body. The subject was not considered from a moral standpoint, but many are the young men today who have been kept from forming the liquor habit just because they learned as boys how terrible are the consequences which are almost certain to attend the continued use of whisky and stimulants of that class. This very study might well have been placed in the same category as the railroad movement "safety first".

And there has come the suggestion that safety first along other lines might well be included in the average school curriculum. It a short period each day or a few times a week could be devoted to an explanation of the dangers of electricity and directions as to the care one must use in the touching or handling of wires, the results would be vastly beneficial in the saving of lives. The record of recent years in Jacksonville has borne stern and frightful testimony of how quickly human life may be snuffed out by a touch of the wire.

And in this matter of safety, automobile drivers who are themselves frequently assailed for violation of the speed laws, make constant complaint because of the disposition shown by mere children to ignore the automobile danger. Because of the rough places on the West State Street pavement many residents of west Jacksonville who drive cars have for months been routing them along West Lafayette avenue, but it is common knowledge that during recent weeks a number of car owners have kept off that street because of the temerity shown by so many children. There have been frequent instances where boys of eight, nine and ten years of age have deliberately run in front of rapidly approaching automobiles and who have made the apparent effort of seeing how close they could come to the moving cars without being caught, others have developed the practice of attempting to jump upon the steps of passing cars, just as has often been the practice with moving trains. A reform is needed badly along this line, not only on the street mentioned but equally so in other parts of the city, and unless such reform does come the time for a serious and regrettable accident is only deferred.

And speaking of wires, the time may not yet have come, but it certainly will arrive when all the wires about Jacksonville and more especially in the business district should be placed under ground. Some of the streets and practically all of the alleys in the business district overhead present a perfect network of wires. The same thing is true along some streets and on a number of thoroughfares there are four sets of poles carrying light and telephone wires. The fault cannot be charged up specifically to any one company nor to the city, but the condition has come about through the years of development, and later on at any rate must come the further development of securing safety for the public by having the wires passed through underground conduits. The first expense of this work will be great, but maintenance cost through the years would be so much less than in the past that there would be some compensation aside from the safety of the public. There is the added fact of the general betterment of street appearances which would result from the abolition of wires and poles. Such a community of wire interests as exists between the telephone and light companies and the city light plant invite danger and all parties to the transaction are equally at fault. There are dangers on this account not only to the employees of the companies and the city, but in many other instances as well, for when a telephone or telegraph wire is crossed with a light company or a city wire of high voltage there are untold possibilities of death for anyone who may be exposed to the danger.

Honor the Soldiers. While the public as a whole has never ceased to hold Decoration day in reverence, the indications are that for this year the day will command more interest than has been true for a number of years. This feeling is evidenced by the more careful preparations for the observance of the day in this and many other cities. The greater interest can no doubt be accounted for because of an especially awakened patriotism brought about by world events.

There have been many happenings during the last twelve months to give prominence to the patriotic spirit. The continued accounts of the European war have brought to mind forcibly the great conflict waged in the United States fifty years ago. The increasing demand for a stronger navy and a larger army have had a tendency to direct thought along patriotic lines. The sinking of the Lusitania and the direct appeal to forget all party and sectional lines in the support of the president have formed a still more recent patriotic influence. And so, not only Decoration day, but the succeeding national holidays of 1915 are almost certain to give new evidence of the deep-seated and abiding patriotism of the average American citizen.

Today the boys of 1860 will attend, memorial service, Monday they will have their memorial exercises and decorate the graves of their comrades who have answered the last roll call.

We of the younger generations, perhaps, sometimes forget the sacredness of this day and what it means to those gray-haired veterans. Their ranks are thinning rapidly. Those of us who see them today as they fall in line and march to church and on Monday when they again take up the march to the last city of the dead, should pause and think. The sight of these men who walk with tottering footsteps, whose eyes have grown dim with the passing years, should serve to remind us of our debt to them and our duty to the country they saved.

Therefore today let us bow our heads in worship with these soldiers. Let us go with them on Monday and help in their Memorial day exercises. Time, which is relentless in its march, is cutting them down more rapidly each year. In a few decades none of them will be left.

GILBERT'S PHARMACY.

DRIVING THROUGH WATER. D. E. Kennedy was caught at his farm near Arcadia in the rain late Friday afternoon but decided nevertheless to start to Jacksonville in his Maxwell car. All went well until he came to Snake creek where the water was so deep that it came up to the bed of the car. He however was able to push the car along until within ten feet of the bank when water in the carburetor killed the engine and made it impossible for the starter to give the needed spark. Then Mr. Kennedy tried running the remaining distance on electricity and "made the grade."

After the bank was reached he climbed on the fender, for the steps were under water, raised the hood, let the water out of the carburetor and in a few minutes was able to start the engine and push on through the mud and slush without further delay. It's a good story and especially so when it is remembered that Mr. Kennedy has but one hand since an accident of a few years ago, and now he's prouder of his car than ever.

Rent Houses Wanted

There has never been a time when desirable rent houses, $7.50 to $25, were scarcer at Johnston Agency than they are today. Our facilities for securing the right renter for the right house are good. Being the only agency in the city making a specialty of this business, a constant stream of applicants pours through our office. We know what is due to tenants in the way of repairs, and our tenants stay. On the other hand, we collect all rents in advance, and we do not, upon the average, lose a full month's rent upon one house a year.

Landlords—We think you will find it profitable, and save yourselves great amount of trouble, if you will let us attend to your rentals. We have made a science of it. And we respectfully solicit your business.

When you buy an article you of course want it to be worth all that you paid for it—to be all it was represented. Now

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN IS BROUGHT TO SUCCESSFUL CLOSE

Contributions Total $4,305.23 and Show Generous Spirit of Jacksonville People—Pledges Good for Two Years and Mean Twice Sum Mentioned.

The Y. M. C. A. campaign is over and the $4,000 aimed at with 582 contributors has turned out to be $4,305.23 and now, in a word, with an ideal secretary the plan is to show the city during the next two years what a genuine institution of the kind is and then let the people decide, after a fair trial, whether they want it continued enough to pay the price it will cost. The pledges are good for two years and so near a total of $8,610.46.

The noon meeting Saturday was full of enthusiasm for success was in sight though the goal had not been attained. The excellent dinner was served by the people of the Grand Cafe. Mr. Miller invoked the divine blessing and after all had enjoyed a good feed Dr. McCarty took the floor and spoke encouragingly and said he felt especially pleased with the fact that M. F. Dunlap would have a hand in seeing after the financial management of the association and Mr. Dunlap spoke briefly. The reports of the teams were then made. A pleasant feature of the occasion was a letter from Lloyd Snerley of Decatur pledging $25 yearly for two years; also from Samuel Farmer of Berea, $10; from Edward Beggs of Ashland, $15 and from Arthur Swain of Sinclair, $10. There may have been other gifts from out of the city but they were not reported.

The meeting then adjourned till 6 p. m., when supper was served and final report of the success of the campaign was made.

The grand total then footed up:

M. F. Dunlap's squad.
Dr. Kopperl's team	$ 653.50
W. B. Miser's team	833.50
Carl Weber's team	265.50

Total $1772.50

W. J. Brady's squad.

Eb Spink's team	$ 551.16
Rev. W. E. Spoon's team	1223.91
Ralph Dunlap's team	534.60

Total $2349.73

Teleg. $ 175.00

Mothers 48.00

Grand total $4305.23
from 582 subscribers.

Dr. McCarty then struck up the long meter Doxology, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow" and it was sung with a will. W. B. Miser, in order to show the good will of those who didn't come out ahead presented Mr. Spoons, captain of the winning team, a "woodie" which on examination proved to be two fed artificial flowers which were received with remarks that convinced the audience.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Jacob Buckley and wife have been called the second time to Blooming on account of the serious illness of Mrs. Howard Buckley.

Mrs. Wilbur Coulitas and little daughter of Freeport, Ill., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Coulitas.

S. Havens of Winchester was among the business visitors in Jacksonville Saturday.

R. L. Dunlap then read from Pres. R. I. Dunlap, a telegram which said:

Washington, D. C., May 29.

Mr. L. D. Dunlap, Jacksonville, Ill.

Receive congratulations on the grand success in the Jacksonville Y. M. C. A. campaign. I understand Kopperl, Miser, Weber, Spink and Dunlap worked right hard while Mr. Spoons was always on hand at meal time. Wm. J. Wilson.

Brief remarks were then made by Messrs. Eb Spink, H. J. Rodgers, C. B. Graff, Carl Weber and W. G. Goebel, representing Dr. Kopperl.

Dr. McCarty appointed Dr. Griswold, Eb Spink and H. M. Andre a committee to prepare resolutions of thanks to all who aided in making the campaign a success and those gentlemen submitted the following report which was unanimously adopted.

The managers of the Y. M. C. A. campaign and all connected with the enterprise cordially tender thanks to the following who so generously and materially aided in making the affair a grand success:

CITY FELL TO TURKS 462 YEARS AGO TODAY

SCENE OF THIRTY SIEGES NOW HEARS ALLIES' BIG GUNS.

Constantinople, which came into the hands of Mohammed II. After Fifty-three Day Siege, is now objective of Giant Expeditions of the French and English.

Four hundred and sixty-two years have elapsed since Constantinople fell into the hands of Mohammed II, after a siege of 53 days. Mohammed entered the famous seat of early Christian learning on May 29, 1453, and extinguished the last remains of the Eastern Empire. The famous city of sieges, the dominant strategic point of the old world, is today the objective of two giant expeditions on land and sea. The big guns of the English and French dreadnaughts, pounding their way against the fortifications erected by centuries of care, can be heard in the headquarters of the Moslems. From the Russian ports in the Black Sea a squadron is pounding the nearer fortifications of the Bosphorus. The centuries of misrule under Turkish dominion are coming to a close and the taking of Constantinople again by the Christians is almost a surety.

The famous city founded by Constantine the Great on the site of ancient Byzantium has been the scene of conflict for ages. The earliest city was founded by Byzas in 667 B. C. It was occupied by the Medes, the Athenians and the Spartans. During succeeding wars it was allied with the Romans. The Romans took the city in the year 73 A. D., but later it rebelled and was retaken after a two years' siege in the year 196. In 324 Constantine refounded the city, destroying all the heathen temples, and dedicated it as Constantinople in the year 330. Art, learning and religion flourished at this seat of civilization until the great Roman empire crumbled before the invading hosts of barbarians from the north and east and the invasions of the Turks from Asia.

When Mohammed took the city 462 years ago, cannon were still in the experimental stage. Mohammed had a cannon made to the diameter of two and a half feet and used stone balls. He had 70,000 men, while the Christian force had been depleted to 6,000. The Turkish fleet consisted of 320 vessels. The Christians were short of gunpowder and every repulse they inflicted on the Turks brought nearer the day of their own downfall. Battering rams, cannon and liquid fire were used constantly in the attack upon the half ruined fort, and at one time the Turks sent forward a wooden turret on rollers which was destroyed. A Christian squadron of only five ships repulsed the Turks in a desperate naval engagement, though Mohammed himself, sitting on his horse on the beach, yelled reproaches to his sailors and even sprang his horse into the sea.

Mohammed conceived the desperate operation of carrying his ships overland from the Bosphorus into the harbor. In one night the Turkish fleet was thus transferred. The Ottoman cannon demolished the Greek forts in 40 days and the final assault began on the morning of May 29. The Emperor Constantine XIII. fought to the last and died like a hero. A pitiless sack of the city began the moment it fell, under the explicit permission and even order of Mohammed himself. The Crescent was down from the tall dome of the Church of St. Sophia, supplanting the cross that stood there for centuries. The atrocities of that day in Constantinople form one of the most revolting pages in all history. Helpless virgins of the church, women and children, were chained into slavery and dragged through the streets by their barbarous conquerors.

That Constantinople has remained in possession of the Turks so many years is due to European diplomacy. The jealousies of nations has played the principal part in reserving the Moslem rule over the important city. The Russians advanced to its outer forts in 1878, but England refused to permit Slav aggression against the Sultan. The alliance between the Turks and the Germans served to break the hands off edict of the past and last winter the plans were laid for the taking of Constantinople as the means of breaking Germany and Austria from their Moslem alliance. The preparations of centuries have had their effect in checking the difficult operations but the resources of the world are behind the great attack that is rapidly nearing its goal.

The scholars of the modern world are watching the progress toward the famous city with the greatest of interest. The buried treasures of centuries are believed to be again available when the city falls. For when the scholars of the early days fled into eastern Europe and set up our modern civilization they left behind them storehouses still untouched. The belief that the Turks have not destroyed the ancient libraries lends hope to the opening up of vast treasures of knowledge.

WILL ERECT LARGE HAY BARN.

Dr. A. C. Kingsley Saturday let the contract to Joseph DeGoveia for the erection of a large hay barn on his farm near Girard. The barn will be 30 by 60 feet and about 30 feet high. The frame will be of wood and the exterior finish of galvanized iron. The cost of the building will be about $1,000. Mr. DeGoveia is making the frame here and it will be shipped to Girard by freight.

MANY IMPORTANT MEASURES KILLED

LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM HAS DISAPPOINTED INFLUENTIAL ORGANIZATIONS.

Forty or More Resolutions and Proposed Bills Listed as Important are Dead—Hard Fight Made for Constitutional Convention.

Springfield, Ill., May 28.—Nearly forty measures that have attracted unusual attention and that have been urged with extraordinary persistency, have been killed by the legislature. As the probabilities are that the legislative session will last two or three weeks longer, this number probably will be added to materially before adjournment.

Included in the list of the more important measures which have met defeat are bills and resolutions which have had the backing of some of the most prominent organizations and societies throughout the state.

One of the strongest fights to meet with failure was made in support of the proposition of a constitutional convention. The Illinois constitutional convention league worked for years upon this matter and at the outset of the session leaders in the movement were confident of success. The resolution was given right of way over all constitutional resolutions and passed the senate, failing in the house to receive the required two-thirds vote.

The proposition to amend the amending clause of the constitution was urged by Gov. Dunne in his biennial message to the general assembly and was advocated by a strong contingent. It, too, has gone into the discards. Along with it has gone the resolution granting full suffrage to women, the initiative and referendum and the proposal for the initiative and referendum and the proposal for the initiative on legislative measures. Out of the lot, the tax amendment was the one to meet with the favor of the lawmakers and it is the one the people will have opportunity to vote upon in November of next year.

Wet and Dry Bills Go.

Included among the more important bills that have been slaughtered were all the "wet" and "dry" measures. This list comprised a varied assortment of proposed legislation, covering the entire range from an extension of local option to counties as voting units to repealing the entire local option act. With strong backing for both the anti-saloon advocates and the liberals, the conservative element held the balance of power with the result that the liquor laws were left unchanged.

The efficiency and economy commission, created two years ago with a view to remodeling the system of state government, reported to the present legislature a series of bills designed to place the state government upon a basis following closely the system employed in the national government. Practically all of these measures are admittedly dead, although still lingering either upon the calendar or slumbering in committee. It is possible that one or two of the less radical of this series of bills will be enacted into law, but the remainder are not considered to have any chance of passage.

In the line of labor legislation, the two bills most earnestly advocated by organized labor in the state have fallen by the wayside. The house this week killed the women's nine hour bill, which started as an eight hour measure and reached third reading with amendments that assisted in bringing about its defeat. The child labor bill remains on the house calendar but the national child labor committee, which was urging its passage has withdrawn support since the bill was recalled to second reading and amended in a manner not approved of by the organization. With this endorsement removed, the prospects of the bill's passage have materially diminished.

Railroad Prospects Slight.

The "campaign of candor" inaugurated by the railroads of Illinois for an increase in passenger fares rates to two and one-half cents a mile has come to an end, their bill still holding a place on the house calendar but no disposition being manifested to push it. An endeavor to repeat the present two cent fare law and leave the matter in the hands of the state utility commission already has been killed in committee.

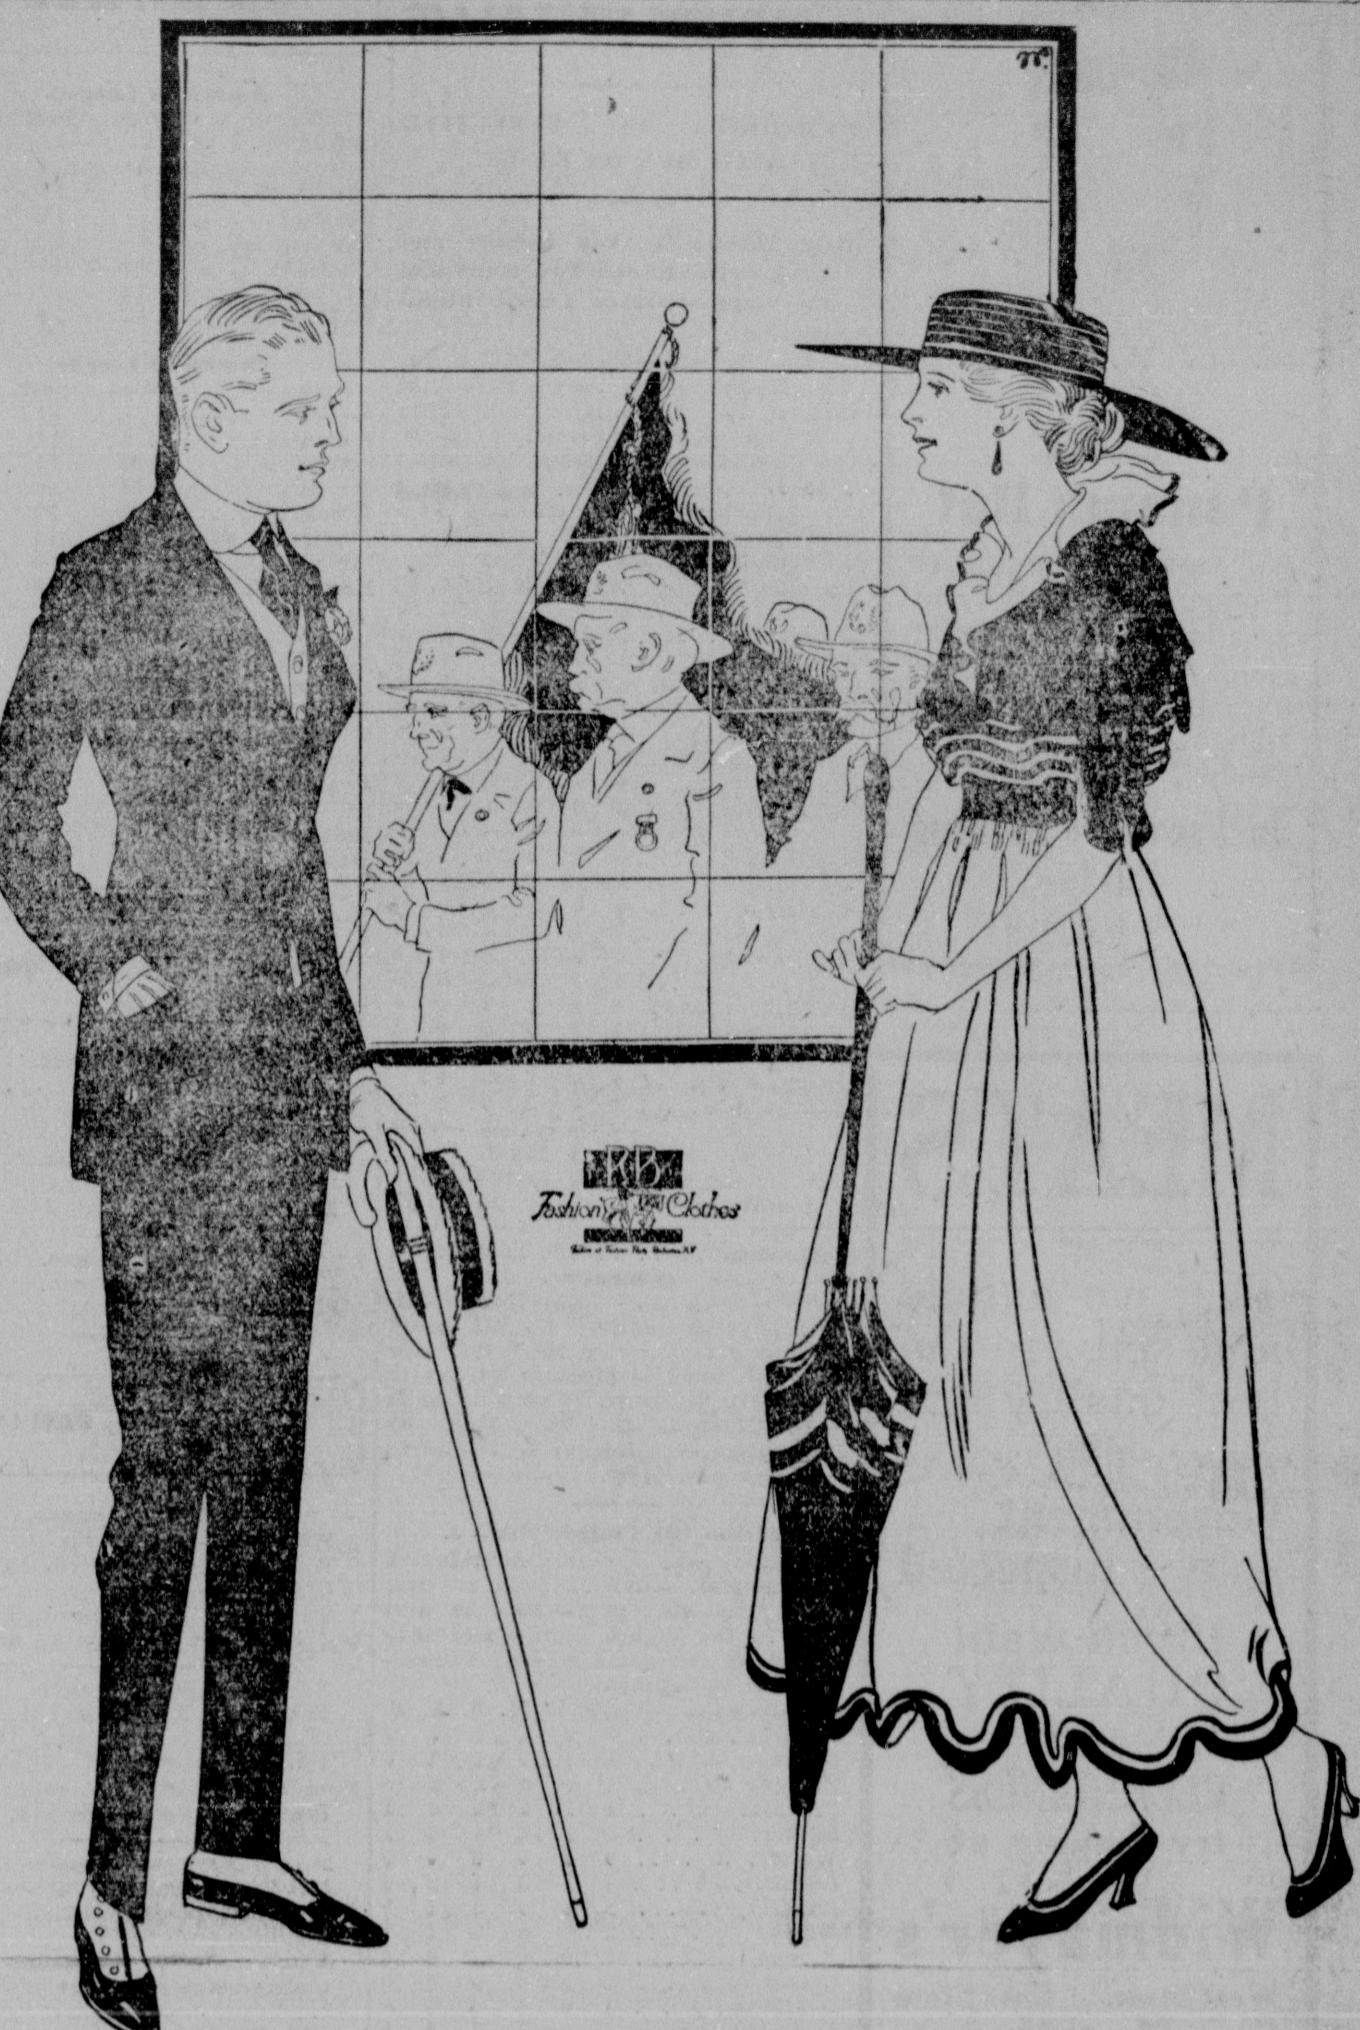

On the other hand the fifty cent bill, which has been urged by the railroad employees of the state, is holding a place on the house calendar, but its fate is far from secure.

Among the measures in which the citizens of Chicago have evinced especial interest that have gone down to defeat in one way or another were the bills providing for non partisan judicial elections, non partisan municipal elections and the Cook county civil service bill, the enacting clause of which was stricken out in the house. The measure providing for non partisan municipal elections still holds a place on the house calendar, but with no prospect of advancement.

Some of the important educational propositions have met with slight favor among the assemblymen. Both vocational education propositions are dead, together with the free text book measure. Bills for state uniformity and county uniformity of textbooks appear to have little chance of success.

The boxing bill, a collaborated measure substituted for the various pending bills creating a state athletic commission and legalizing ten round bouts under supervision of state authorities, met death on roll call in the house this week. There is no prospect that the racing bill, providing for similar regulations, will make any progress.

Legislation looking toward state control of private banks is considered another dead issue. Bills upon the subject practically all died in

PRISONER ESCAPES.
Jewell, alias "Gold Tooth" Tucker, escaped from Deputy Sheriff Stice Friday night. Tucker is one of the numerous bootleggers arrested recently and was serving a sentence of thirty days in jail and to pay a fine of $100 and costs.

Friday evening Deputy Stice took him down to his home to get some clothing. Evidently Tucker did not want the clothing as badly as he wanted an opportunity to escape. He got the opportunity at his home and got away. At this time he has not been recaptured, but Mr. Stice will keep a relentless watch for the man.

THE IDLERS

Men labor against the hames, and sweat till they're old and gray, supporting the stall-fed dames who idle their years away. We've bred up a futile race of women who have no care, except for enameled face, or sea-green shade of hair, who always are richly gowned and wearing imported lids, who carry their poodles around, preferring the pups to kids. And husbands exhaust their frames, and strain till their journeys done, supporting the stall-fed dames, who never have toiled or spun. We're placed in this world to work, to harvest our crop of prunes; Jehovah abhors the shirk, in gown or in trouserloos. The loafers in gems and silks are bad as the fragrant vags, who pilfer and beg and blink, and die in their rancid rags. The loafers at bridge whist games, the loafers at purple teas, the hand-painted stall-fed dames, are chains on the workers' knees. The women who cook and sew, the women who manage homes, who have no desire to grow green hair on enameled domes, how noble and good they seem, how wholesome and sane their aim compared with that human scream, the brass-mounted, stall-fed dame!

POULTRY ON THE FARM FAIL TO DOCK AND HOW IT PAYS

AIR FROM FURNACE SYSTEM NOT ALWAYS DESIRABLE.

Relative Humidity Maintained Depends On the Outside Temperature—Heating Furnace Red Hot Carbonizes Organic Floating Matter.

In a previous article we discussed the need of a good ventilating system in the farm home, particularly during the winter months, and gave also some facts in regard to cost of the furnace system.

The complaint that the air from a furnace system is too dry or its relative humidity is too low is very commonly made, and the more outside air used the drier it will be. Since air at 32 degrees can hold about 2 grains of water vapor per cubic foot at the most that is, when "saturated," and about 8 grains per cubic foot at 70 degrees, it is evident that the moisture carrying capacity has been increased about four fold by simply warming the air from 32° to 70 degrees.

Hence if the inlet air is 50 per cent saturated or contains 1 grain of water vapor at 32 degrees, it will be only 12.5 per cent saturated when heated to the room temperature of 70 degrees, and will therefore be capable of taking up moisture very rapidly from the furniture, books, etc., as well as from the occupants of the room.

So much has already been said or written upon this subject of humidity that it is perhaps unnecessary to state that aside from its depressing action dry air required a higher room temperature to produce the same sensible warmth than properly humidified air. The proper relative humidity to be maintained depends somewhat on the outside temperature, since air at 70 degrees and 50 degrees saturated will precipitate its moisture when in contact with a window-pane on a zero day. It is therefore desirable to attempt to maintain a relative humidity ranging from 40 to 50 per cent with the room air temperature at 70 degrees.

Evaporation Methods.

The means by which this may be accomplished are fairly simple, but special provision must be made for evaporating a much larger quantity of water than is generally provided for. Furnace water pans without direct fire heating surface are practically useless, and buckets in register boxes are of doubtful value, since they obstruct the flow of air and give little relief. The difficulty is that few people appreciate the amount of vapor required to maintain the conservative relative humidity of 50 per cent specified above.

For example, if outdoor air at 70 degrees and 50 per cent relative humidity is supplied to a six-room house it will be necessary to evaporate about 30 gallons of water per day of 24 hours to maintain the internal humidity at 50 per cent with a temperature of 70 degrees in the house.

To accomplish this result an open tank or closed water-back must be attached directly to the fire-pot or combustion chamber of the furnace and have a constant water supply under automatic control of a ball cock placed in a separate supply tank outside of the furnace. In this way a constant water level is maintained in the evaporating chamber and the liberated water vapor is discharged directly into the bonnet at the top of the furnace casing from which it can readily enter all of the leader pipes. Such a system of tanks can be locally assembled or purchased from the more progressive furnace manufacturers.

The relative humidity is easily determined by swinging a wet and a dry bulb thermometer placed side by side in the air of the room. If the air is very dry the wet bulb reading is much less than the dry bulb due to the evaporation of water from the wetted muslin secured around the bulb of the former. With a relative humidity of 50 per cent and 70 degrees dry bulb the wet bulb will read about 58.5 degrees, and with 25 per cent the wet bulb will read about 51.5 degrees.

Need Not Be Overheated.

Burned or scorched air results from overheating the air supplied by the furnace so that the dust and other organic matter in it is partially carbonized. This condition is almost certain to exist if the heating surfaces are allowed to reach a red heat, as often happens when the apparatus is of insufficient capacity and is being forced in cold weather. No furnace heating system should be accepted in which it is necessary to maintain an air temperature in excess of 150 degrees at the register in order to keep the rooms at 70 degrees, even in the coldest weather.

Coal Gas May Be Avoided.

Coal gas or smoke should never be present in the air supplied to the rooms of the house. If all joints in the fire-pot and combustion chamber are perfectly tight such contamination of the air passing over these surfaces cannot possibly occur. It is therefore advisable to make an annual inspection each fall and make sure that these joints are absolutely tight. The possibility of gas leaking through defective joints is far less when the chimney flue is of ample capacity and the draft good. In such a case the suction produced by the draft will draw air into the combustion chamber and not cause the furnace gas to be forced into the warm air space around the combustion

VAST AMOUNT IS AGGREGATE OF MANY SMALL OUTPUTS.

NATIVE ANIMALS USUALLY FILL THIS CLASS.

Eight Hundred Million a Year in Importance Is Being Realized More Each Year Most Stockmen Agree—Little Surgical Skill Required for Castrating Lambs.

University of Illinois. Buyers from the Chicago Union Stockyards inform us that lambs constitute over three-fourths of all the sheep reaching that market and that a large number of these lambs are never docked or castrated. The native lambs usually fill this class, as we find the majority of the growers in the central states neglect to dock and castrate, and consequently lose a considerable profit on their sales. We must agree, however, that the while docking.

Using the Docking Pinchers.

importance of docking and castrating is being more fully appreciated each year, yet many farmers do not think the results justify the risk of possibly losing a few lambs. It is true there is always a chance for loss, but if the operations are properly performed and special precautions taken with the lambs after the operation there is very little danger of losing lambs as the result of docking and castrating.

Many owners of small farm flocks keep their sheep chiefly to destroy weeds and to utilize what would otherwise be considered waste on the farm, and even though they know good methods of sheep herding, neglect plays its part in the docking and castrating end of the business. We find that the market absolutely denounces such neglect in terms of dollars and cents.

On the average, lambs that have been docked and castrated sell for 50 to 75 cents more per hundred than lambs that have never been so treated, even if such lambs are of exactly the same breeding and condition. In certain seasons of the year, especially the latter part of the summer, there is as much as $1 to $1.50 difference per hundred pounds. The reason for this difference in price is due to several factors. Undocked lambs get very little for the general appearance to the eye of the buyer. Lambs that have never been castrated develop a coarseness when they are less than two and a half months old which increases very rapidly with the age of the lamb. The development of the sex characters in the rams cause them to become very active and by their treacherous nature they worry and reduce themselves in flesh, as well as others in the flock. In such cases it is hard to get the lambs to a good market finish and have them of desirable quality.

Suppose, for the sake of illustration, we have a hundred head of lambs for sale, weighing 80 pounds, and by docking and castrating we increase the profits 60 cents per hundred. It's means a profit of $48 for the hundred head of lambs. When looking at the docking and castrating business from a financial standpoint, is it not worth considering?

Very little skill is required for either of these operations and they can be performed at the same time if preferred. In such cases the castrating is always done first. Sheep men, as a rule, dock and castrate when the lambs are about two to three weeks old. Of course, some prefer to wait until the lambs are four or five weeks old; others dock and castrate when lambs are about ten days old.

The most common method used in castrating is to lay the lambs on the left side and cut off the end of the scrotum with a sharp knife and draw out the testicles as quickly as

GOOD VENTILATION FOR HOME ESSENTIAL

CONSCIENCE OF ENTIRE COMMUNITY MUST BE AROUSED.

Parents Who Allow Children Just Recovering From Contagious Attack to Enter School Are Guilty of Criminal Negligence.

By J. M. Dodson, University of Chicago.

(In University of Illinois Health Series)

It is needless to arouse the conscience of each member of a community as to his responsibility to others. The parents who allow their children, convalescent from an infectious disease, to enter school and expose others, are criminally negligent.

The search for new facts and methods of sanitation by competent workers in our universities, research institutes and governmental departments is indispensable to effective sanitation and demands much more generous support than it has yet received.

The United States Department of Agriculture spends annually five millions of dollars in the effort to improve our agricultural resources and with splendid results. Is the health and happiness of our men, women and children of less importance than that of our hogs, cattle, sheep, and our grains, vegetables, trees and fruits? In connection with research, I cannot withhold a word as to the vital importance of vivisection, properly conducted, especially in connection with infectious diseases. Almost without exception the benevolent discoveries which have been along these lines, some of which I have endeavored to describe, would have been absolutely impossible without the use of animals for such purpose.

The American Public Health League is at present engaged in an effort to secure the enactment by Congress of an act to create such a department.

In this movement and in all other movements to improve sanitary ditions under which we live, to lessen the ravages of infectious disease and life of a few hundred animals and the infliction of a nominal amount of pain and discomfort has resulted in the discovery of measures which are saving annually thousands and tens of thousands of human lives and of untold suffering and sorrow.

In our complex society most of the measures of sanitation involve the whole community, and therefore upon our health officers and departments, municipal, state and national, devolves most of the responsibility and the labor of devising and enforcing adequate measures of protection.

Public sanitation has long since passed the stage where it can be adequately conducted by the practicing physician.

The science and act of sanitation is a vocation by itself, calling for ability of the highest order, for very special and abundant training and men of such quality must be adequately compensated, must have a long, if not permanent, tenure of office, and the united support and co-operation of every individual in the community. An advisory board of health, composed jointly of physicians, lawyers, business men, engineers and perhaps men from other occupations, can be of much service, but the major part of the work must be entrusted to a skilled, capable sanitarian.

In the state the health of the people, second to no other interest, demands the creation of a department of health having at its head a secretary or superintendent, co-equal in rank and authority with the secretary of state, of agriculture or of public instruction.

And finally, one of the singular defects of our federal government is the absence of a secretary or at least a commissioner of public health.

The American Public Health

League is at present engaged in an effort to secure the enactment by Congress of an act to create such a department.

MAY INVESTIGATE CHARGES AGAINST CONGRESSMAN

Cincinnati, May 29.—It is believed that the probe to be made by the U. S. civil service commission into the charges that Congressman J. W. Langley of Kentucky, who is at present a candidate for the nomination to the senate from that state, solicited campaign contributions from the National Association of Storekeepers, Quakers and Storekeepers-Gingers, in 1910 and 1911, and individual members of the association in this and other internal revenue districts, will be begun today or Monday. John F. Doyle, secretary of the commission, is expected in town today to attend the meeting of the joint committee of the National Municipal League and the National Assembly of Civil Service Commissioners. The expected probe is to the serious charges brought against the congressman will begin here, and it is reported that Secretary Doyle will go to Lexington and Owensboro, Ky., to investigate the complaints that the collectors at those points have discriminated against Republican revenue employees in their districts.

Congressman Langley has vigorously denied the charges that he sought campaign contributions from revenue employees.

BIG NINE RECORDS
ARE DUE TO FALL
KEEN COMPETITION PROMISED FOR MEET SATURDAY.

More Than Three Hundred Men
Probably Will Compete—Illini
Has Hard Fight on Hand to Retain Title as Champions.

Urbana, Ill., May 29—Before the attack of what is believed the strongest aggregation of athletes named for Conference meet in years, Big Nine records are due to fall in the fifteenth annual meet on Illinois' Field next Saturday. From the dashes to the weights the big field, which probably will include more than 300 men, has men who have tied, approached and beaten the old marks in dual meets already this spring and with the keen competition which the event will furnish new marks are pretty sure to be made.

That the Illini have a hard fight on their hands to retain their title as champions is admitted readily here. Beaten in dual meets by both the Chicago and Wisconsin squads, Illinois' hopes rest on the chance that Badgers and Maroons will so divide their points that the orange and blue athletes may lead with its total.

Previous performances indicate that the Maroons have one of the strongest teams ever turned out by the Midway coaches. In practically every event, Chicago has a point winner, and in some, particularly the dashes and hurdles, is almost sure of the greatest number of points. On paper, Wisconsin ranks next to the Maroons, and Illinois third. At this point the strong non-conference squads must be considered, for Missouri, Kansas and Notre Dame have entered their best men and are sure to take a big share of the points.

Since there are a score of squads named, and since at least one good man is entered from every school, the total is likely to be split twenty ways, and the prophets admit this wide distribution makes predictions hazardous.

As for the records, two Conference marks beaten and another tied is the score to date by men who will compete here next Saturday. The best marks credited to in each event are as follows:

100 yard dash, Knight and Ward, Chicago, 109 4-5.
220 yard dash, Knudsen, Wisconsin, 121 4-5.
440 yard dash, Goelitz, Illinois, 50 4-5.
880 yard run, Campbell, Chicago, 1:55 2-5.
Mile run, Mason, Illinois, 4:21 3-5.
Two mile run, Mason, Illinois, 9:41 2-5.
120 yard hurdles, Ward, Chicago, 15 2-5.
220 yard hurdles, Ward, Chicago, and Ames, Illinois, 25.
High jump, Cray's Northwestern, 6 feet, 1 inch.
Broad jump, Stiles, Wisconsin, 23 feet, 7 inches.
Pole vault, Schobinger, Illinois, 12 feet.
Shot put, Mucks, Wisconsin, 48 feet, 7 1-2 inches.
Hammer throw, Berry, Lake Forest, 143 feet, 1-2 inch.
Discus throw, Mucks, Wisconsin, 149 feet, 8 inches.
Knight and Ward have each tied the Big Nine mark in the 100 yard dash; Campbell's record beats the best previous conference effort in the half-mile, and Muck's discus throw, made in the Wisconsin-Minnesota meet, drove Garrels' old record of 140 feet, 2 3-8 inches.

CONSERVATORY NOTES.

There will be students' recital next Monday afternoon and evening, May 31st and Tuesday evening, June 1st, in Recital hall. The public is cordially invited to attend. These are the final recitals of the year.

The school year closes next Saturday, June 5th. Commencement takes place June 9th. About the middle of June Mr. Krich and Mr. Munger expect to start for the west on a trip which will include the San Francisco Fair, Alaska and Glacier National Park. Mr. Krich will return to Jacksonville about August 15th, and Mr. Munger will spend the remainder of his vacation in Xenia, Ohio.

The spring festival concert, given Friday evening in State street church was very successful, both artistically and as to attendance. Gounod's Faust was given, the soloists being all, with one exception, students in the Conservatory. The church was entirely filled, notwithstanding the bad weather, and many favorable opinions were heard as to the work of the chorus and orchestra.

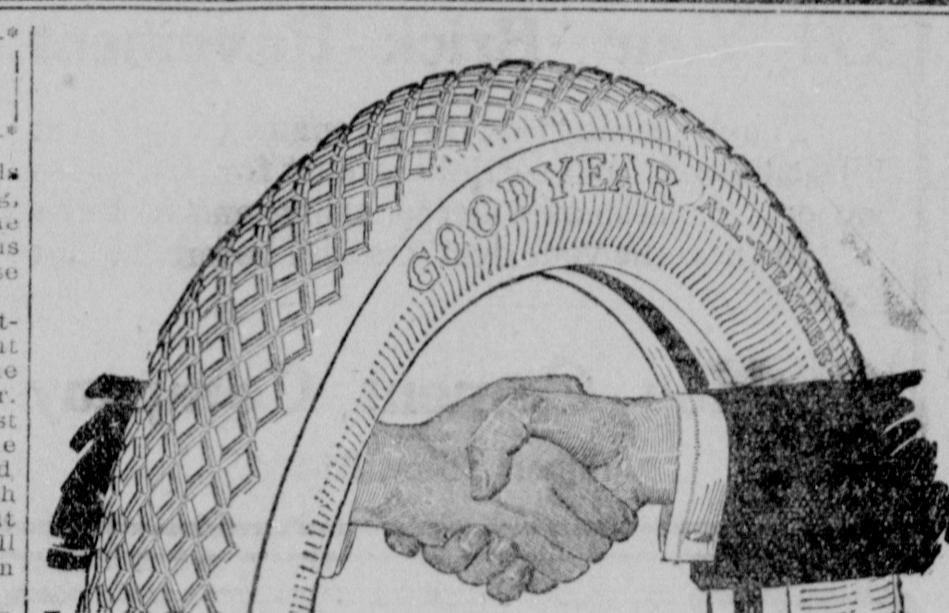

The list of graduates from the Conservatory is this year larger than for many years. Those receiving diplomas, which will be presented on the college campus on commencement day, are the following: Margarette Butler for voice and piano; Dean Cochran for violin; Ruth Duncan for piano; Frederick G. Meyers, for violin; Rebecca Scheibel for voice. The following have received teacher's certificates: Susanne Curtis in public school music; Mary Daniels in piano; Mrs. Mary Frazer in piano; Helen Frazer in voice; Grace Hoffman in piano; Gertrude Kunkle in piano; Alice Phillips in voice; Inez Pires in piano; Esther Spoons in voice and public school music; Helen Struck in piano. Grace Angus also received a certificate in piano.

MEMORIAL DAY.

"He that conquers himself is greater than he that taketh a great city." The nation that conquers or controls itself is greater than the nation that conquers the world. The United States of America, in past years demonstrated in the Civil War, which caused great sacrifice of life, treasure and property, the fact that personal life and equal rights should and must be maintained.

It is therefore meet and proper that we as a people commemorate this great victory of internal self-control. Therefore on Monday, May 31, 1915, we should all lay aside our business cares and pleasures and join in a public commemoration and remembrance of those who made this great and blessed victory possible.

H. J. Rodgers.

The Co-operative Tire

Goodyear has always built co-operative tires. Every saving has gone to the user. The more men bought the better we built them, and the lower we sold them.

That is why Goodyear has held top place, outselling any other tire.

Those extras—all exclusive to Goodyear—are all retained, despite our price reductions. And we still spend $100,000 yearly to discover new ways to better them.

Your Ally

In all these ways, Goodyear is your ally. You do injustice to yourself when you fail to secure this advantage. Never in tire history was such value given as you get in Goodyear tires today.

No smaller makers can ever give so much.

Any dealer will supply you.

Blood Troubles Can not Re- main If Properly Treated.

There is in S. S. S. the famous blood purifier, a property that absolutely compels bad influences to disintegrate and lose their identity. Once destroyed, there are called no more destructive than there is in S. S. S. a powerful, searching counter influence to annihilate the most eruptive germ, causes the mucous linings to convert it into an inert substance that is quickly thrown out of the blood and out of the body by the skin, lungs, kidneys, bowels, and destroyed in the liver. There is not a single advance in medicine today that in any sense is an improvement over S. S. S. S. It is a wonderful, masterful science, but when it comes to purifying the blood S. S. S. stands alone. Thousands of doctors have prescribed it. Their patients do not always know it is S. S. S. because they leave the treatment to the doctor implicitly. But fair-minded doctors long ago realized that in the vegetable nature of S. S. S. S. were certain ingredients that to the body in sickness were just as vital as the basic building elements of the granular meats, fats and sugars of our daily food. The average doctor is humane and of training intelligence. He has seen the recoveries from worst cases of blood trouble by the use of S. S. S. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist. Accept no substitute. And if you wish proper advice on any form of blood trouble, write to the Medical Adviser, The Swift Specie Co., 102 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is worth while doing so.

WHEN ELECTRIC LIGHT FIRST CAME

Dear Journal:

When the new boulevard lights are turned on for the first time next week are you going to urge that the band take its place in the Central Park pagoda and the inhabitants turn out and make night of it? Not a bad idea? Over thirty years ago when the first electric light system was installed we did that and it was an occasion long to be remembered—in fact is far from being forgotten at this late day. If I remember rightly, Col. G. H. Huntoon was president of the early company and Geo. Hocking was in charge of the installation or at least was one of the workmen on the job. The system employed was the Van Depool and was of the arc design. The band on the occasion was the "Juveniles". A few of the boys are still with us and still dealing out the linked sweetness. That night an enterprising clothier got out a dodger asking the people to read the same by the light of the new lamps. It was a nine days wonder at that time. Jacksonville was one of the first cities in the state to adopt electricity for street lighting and her enterprise attracted general notice. No doubt the occasion of the installation of the new system could be made a gala affair and surely it should not be allowed to pass without some sort of notice being taken. To have a band concert, the streets thronged with merry makers, an address by one of our justly celebrated orators on the new and progressive era now about to open would certainly be appropriate. Why not work it up? If any expense is involved you can depend upon a subscription from Yours for progress.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE NOTES

TOUR OF PAN-
AMERICAN ENVOYS

Washington, May 29.—The tour of central and eastern cities arranged by the government officials as the concluding feature of the Pan-American Financial Conference will begin on Monday. Baltimore is the first stop. On Tuesday and Wednesday the South and Central American bankers will be in Philadelphia; Thursday and Friday will be spent in Pittsburgh and Saturday and Sunday in St. Louis. The special train will then take them to Chicago, where the delegates will be entertained June 7 and 8. Wednesday, June 9, is Detroit day, and on June 10 the financiers will visit Buffalo and Niagara Falls. The following day will bring them to Schenectady to visit the electric plants, and June 12 and 13 will be spent in Boston. On June 14 and 15 the New York commercial bodies will entertain the visitors, and the first big All-American financial congress will be at an end.

1848—Ratifications of the treaty between U. S. and Mexico exchanged at Queretaro.

1854—Kansas and Nebraska became U. S. territories.

1913—Turkey and Balkan allies concluded a treaty of peace.

1914—American naval officer, acting collector at Vera Cruz, fined two German ships for breaking regulations concerning landing of arms and ammunition.

A. G. Linnd, David Henderson, Cecil Henderson, Levi Deatherage and Jason Clark were visitors in the city yesterday from Arcadia.

REMEMBER MEMORIAL AND DECORATION DAYS

Bring Flowers, Attend Service Today and Sunday and Put Out Flags.

Decoration and memorial days will come together this year and all are urged to remember the occasions. This morning the veterans are asked to assemble by G. A. R. hall on West Morgan street at 9:45 to attend divine services at the Christian church and hear a sermon by Rev. M. A. Pontius. Tomorrow afternoon all are asked to go to Central church and hear Comrade Wm. J. Liberton of Chicago make the memorial address. Mr. Liberton is a fine orator and knows whereof he speaks as he is a veteran of the late war and shouldered a gun along with others and did good duty while the war lasted. He is a native of Scotland but has spent the greater part of his life in this country and is a thorough American and loyal to his adopted country he has served so well. A large audience should hear this eloquent orator for he will have something to say which will be well worth hearing.

All persons should hang out flags. Hardly enough attention has been paid to this in times past and on this occasion more of Old Glory should be seen.

The last chapel exercise was held on Friday. The president and the dean made brief talks.

Edward Tanner Brown, '05, was advanced to the priesthood in the Episcopal church at San Jose, Calif., last Friday.

The annual Junior Oratorical contest will occur in the Jones building on Saturday, June 5, at 8 o'clock. The competition for the oratorical honors is keen this year and it will probably be a good contest.

TAKES HOPEFUL VIEW.

Samuel Farmer of the vicinity of Cora was in the city yesterday and called on several of his city friends.

He reports a great deal of rain in his vicinity and says wheat on low lands and heavy has been lodged rather badly. Some corn on bottom land is under water and some on rolling ground has been washed out, but on the whole he is inclined to take a hopeful view of conditions.

The baccalaureate service will be held at the State Street church on Sunday, June 5. Members of the faculty, trustees, all graduating classes, alumni, alumnae and students are urged to meet promptly at 10:30 in the parlors of the church.

AT ARLINGTON CEMETERY.

Washington, May 29.—Governor Frank B. Willis of Ohio is to be the principal speaker at the Memorial Day exercises, tomorrow, at Arlington National Cemetery. The usual ceremonies in memory of the soldiers buried in the cemetery will be held.

"They say every big family has a black sheep. Well that's the way of the world. Even among Diamond Tires there's about one out of every hundred that isn't just what it ought to be."

—Mister Squeegie

We don't judge families by their black sheep.

We judge the black sheep by their families. And the better the family the blacker the sheep. So when a Diamond Tire gets into trouble we think more strongly about it because it comes from such a good family.

But isn't it a wonderful record—about one Diamond Tire in every hundred a black sheep—

Oh, not really deep-dyed black—let's say it's sort of a dark gray sheep actually.

The difficulty is that Diamond Tires can only be compared with Diamond Tires. There's no other standard of comparison.

Send for our book of letters from dealers who sold Diamond Tires in 1914.

It tells how more than 99 out of every 100 of the more than half million Diamond Tires sold last year gave maximum service at minimum mileage cost. It is yours for the asking.

Make Bond Issue.

By a vote of 75 to 73 the citizens of Franklin, at an election held Saturday, voted in favor of erecting a new school building. It was also voted to issue bonds to the sum of $10,000.

The proposition has been under consideration for some time. The school authorities have felt that more room was needed. It is not the intention to erect a separate building, but to add to the one already there. There was considerable opposition to the new school building by the taxpayers. The question now presented is whether the vote should be a majority, and if this is the case, the results will not stand.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES
HELD AT MURRAYVILLE

Services Were Conducted at the M. E. Church With Address by Rev. M. L. Pontius—List of Soldiers Buried in Bethel Cemetery.

Appropriate exercises in honor of the dead soldiers were held in the M. E. church in Murrayville Saturday, the services being largely attended. Thirty girls and boys went to Bethel cemetery at 1:30 p. m. and decorated the graves of the thirty-six soldiers buried there. Rev. Wright, who read the list of the dead, suggested that Murrayville ought to have a new burial ground as Bethel cemetery was about filled. He thought that a lot should be selected upon which a tablet should be built containing all the names of the dead buried there, and this would be a means of perpetuating their memory. The suggestion was very favorably received and it is possible that such action may be taken at no future date.

Program.—The following was the program:

Prayer—Rev. C. S. McCollom.

Song, "All Hall to the Flag"—Mrs. W. B. Rimby, Mrs. Iva Short, Miss Lula Coultas, Miss Mildred Wright, Miss Stella Cunningham, George Coultas, John Wild, W. B. Wright and J. H. Dial.

Reading, "Home Sweet Home"—Miss Esther Osborne, (she was accompanied on the piano by her sister, Miss Edna Osborne.)

Address—Rev. Myron L. Pontius, Jacksonville.

Music—By the Double Quartet.

Solos, "The Flag We Fought to Save"—(Chorus by the double quartet.)

Reading, "The Vision of War"—Miss Alma Story.

Reading of list of soldiers—W. B. Wright.

Song, "Sleep, Soldier Sleep"—By Double Quartet.

Benediction—Rev. M. L. Pontius.

A rising vote of thanks was extended Rev. M. Pontius for his able address. There were three old soldiers present, Capt. John Wright, E. F. Miller and John Boruff. Mrs. Nettie Millon acted as pianist of the afternoon.

List of Soldiers.

The following is a list of the soldiers buried in Bethel cemetery, whose graves were in Murrayville. Joseph Gunn, Alex. Crouch, Lafayette Chapman, Richard T. Seaver, William T. Aldridge, John Herron, John McDonald, John G. Bush, Samuel Shumaker, John Murray, Samuel McKeon, James Birdsell, Simeon Birdsell, Isaac Wade, Julius Worrall, James L. MORTUARY

Draper.

Miss Susan Draper of this city has received word of the death of her cousin, Gen. Daniel M. Draper, of Denver, Colo.

Gen. Draper was born in Louisiana, Mo., in 1840, and for a time was a student in Illinois college, but did not graduate. He entered the Civil war in the famous Missouri cavalry and rose to the rank of brigadier general.

At the close of the war he returned home, and removed to Denver, where he spent the greater part of his life. He was prominently connected with the Denver and Rio Grande railroad and held a high position in its counsels. He was also state auditor for some time. He leaves a wife, a son married, and a daughter at home.

The funeral took place Monday afternoon.

Cowan.

Mrs. A. W. Cox received a message Saturday announcing the sudden death of Herbert W. Cowan at his home in Denver, Colo. Mr. Cowan was the husband of Mrs. Cox's niece. Death was due to heart disease. He was 49 years of age.

Mr. Cowan was a prominent man in railroad circles in the west, being chief engineer of the Colorado-Southern railroad. The new union station now in course of construction at Denver was under his supervision.

The deceased is survived by his wife and two sons.

Mrs. Cox will leave this afternoon for Denver to attend the funeral which will be held in Denver Tuesday.

Corbin.

Mrs. Susan Corbin died at her home, 519 North Sandy street, at 12:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, aged 77 years. She was married to James Corbin at Gallipolis, Ohio in 1857. She removed to Illinois about thirty-eight years ago and has lived here for many years. Three children survive, Mrs. Katie Vires and William Corbin of Jacksonville and Mrs. William Woods of Springfield.

Funeral services will be held at Mt. Emory Baptist church Tuesday, the deceased having long been a member of that denomination. Interment will be in Jacksonville cemetery.

Loar.

A telegram received Saturday by Miss Annie T. Loar announced the death of Mrs. Erasmus A. Loar at 10:15 o'clock Saturday morning. The deceased, who was for many years a resident of Jacksonville, had for some time been living with her daughter, Mrs. Sallie Firth, in Peoria. Mrs. Loar was 83 years of age and is well remembered by a great many Jacksonville people as the family home was on East College avenue next to the Chicago & Alton tracks for a long period. Mr. Loar and two daughters died a number of years ago and Mrs. Loar is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Firth, and by one son, Samuel Loar, who is now living on a farm near Manchester. The remains will be brought to Jacksonville for interment and further announcement as to the funeral arrangements will be made.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE DRAMATIC CLUB
PRESENT ALFRED NOYES' SHERWOOD

Tale of Old England Ably Rendered in Music Hall Last Evening—First Play of New Club.

"Sherwood," by Alfred Noyes, was ably presented last evening by members of the Dramatic club of Illinois Woman's college at Music hall. The club has reason to feel proud of this first appearance, as a strong cast and artistic scenery made "Sherwood" a play of unquestioned merit. Miss Mabel Louise Gleckler and Miss Laura Shaw of the department of expression had in charge the presentation of this delightful story in which myth, legend and history are intertwined. Robin Hood and his men have been the theme of many a merry tale. Alfred Noyes, England's new "poet laureate," excels in his epic narrative of Sherwood forest days, and the Dramatic club, with unexampled taste and skill, succeeded well in giving reality to the thought of English master and ancient bard.

In praise of the scenery too much can hardly be said. Planned as an outdoor play, "Sherwood" is best given with a background of trees and shrubbery. Threatening weather made advisable the use of Music hall instead of the campus, but so well were boughs of maple, oak and elm combined and in such profusion arched, that the king's deer forest and its outlaws were vividly set forth.

Miss Alma Harmel as Robin Hood was easily the star of the cast. Her control of voice in the lower registers was remarkable and in every utterance of the outlawed earl of Huntingdon she seemed well nigh perfect. As Prince John, Miss Feril Hess was at her best. With excellent abandon she portrayed the pitiless character of the usurping king. Miss Marceline Armstrong as Much, the miller's son, and Miss Ima Berryman as "Shadow-of-a-Leaf," the jester, were especially commendable among minor parts. Miss Irene Crum had the role of Maid Marian, the betrothed of Robin, the outlaw chief. Her bearing and expression were good in this difficult part. The cast was well selected, each had her part in hand and each performer played her role with clarity and skill.

The following was the cast of characters:

Robin, Earl of Huntingdon, known as Robin Hood—Alma T. Harmel. Outlawed followers of Robin Hood—Little John, Bertha Weber; Friar Tuck, Mary Harrison; Will Scarlet, Helen McGhee; Reynolds Greenleaf, Rose Ranson; Much, the Miller's son, Marceline Armstrong; Alan-a-dale—Willa Miller.

Prince John—Feril Hess.

King Richard, Coeur de Lion—Audrey Berryman.

Blondel, King Richard's Minstrel—Alma Weber.

The Sheriff of Nottingham—Esther Fowler.

Fitzwalter, Father of Marian—Wilma Miller.

Shadow-of-a-leaf, a Fool—Ima C. Berryman.

Queen Elinor, Mother of Prince John and Richard Lion-hearted—Mary Baldwin.

Marian Fitzwalter, known as Maid Marian, betrothed to Robin Hood—Irene Crum.

Tenny, Maid to Marian—Elaine Burman.

Widow Scarlet, Mother of Will Scarlet—Lavinia Jones.

Priincess of Kirklee—Corinne Hughes.

Fairies—Margaret Coulitas, Frances Soucie, Julia Stuckey, Adeline Perris, Marjorie Brown, Anna M. Gist, Ruth Pinkerton, Ruth Finkston, Ila Allen, Lena Reed, Hazel Shepard, Zella Osborne, Mamie Kennedy.
